All of Us

All of us, together, are
The twigs that cannot be broken.
All of us, together, are
The tree that will not be bent.
All of us, together, are
The Youth that is strong.

So don't worry.
We'll get along.
We've got a dream and an ideal.
We can barter and mold steel
With that.
We can mold a world.

So don't worry.
We may pick up the broom
Where you have dropped it,
But we can sweep just
As clean.

We have something great
To work for.
Something bigger than
Any of us, or you. —Bigger
Than the world itself.

So we'll be rather Busy.

We won't tackle
The moon. We'll start
At the base of the tree.
We expect to climb.
Splinters? So what?
We'll get the plum.

Want to climb with us?
Come along. More
Than one has to do it. We
Are a human ladder.
Don't lag. We're in a Hurry. You can't be
The weak thread in the Rope. All of us must be Strong. —Want to climb?

There'll be time
Another day to weave
Our own silver lining.
Right now we're
In a hurry.

So you stand on our
Shoulders and we'll
Help you up. Then you
Reach down your hand
For us. Test each branch.
Be careful. We've got a
Long climb, but what a
Lucious fruit!

Well, standing here talking
Won't help. Let's go.
